

one day at techtv ...

Les: This is Les Nessman reporting for radio free Cincinnati. The evil forces of Red China have taken the west coast and are on the verge of attacking our fine city of Cleveland.

Johnny: Cincinnati, Les...

Les: Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Des Moines have fallen to these godless communists. But America is strong, you bet, normally we'd tell you to take shelter in your basements but right now I want everyone within the sound of my voice to...

Becky: Uncle Les? Uncle Les?

Les: Tabitha, is that you?

Voice Over: You know my name is "Becky" now, Uncle Les.

Les: That's right. I'm sorry, pumpkin, what can Uncle Les do for you sweetie? Uncle Les is in the middle of calling out the force of good to fight the godless Red Chinese.

Becky: Uncle Les, it's time for Call for Help. Can I please take the time to answer a phone call?

Les: All right Sweetie, Uncle Les will let you talk to the great American heartland.

Becky: Thanks Uncle Les, it's time to go to a webcam caller. Caller are you there?

Caller: Hi Becky, I was calling because I downloaded a hacked copy of Microsoft Windows XP off of the web and I installed it on three computers at home. I was wondering if I should register it or just go back to using my old MAC?

Becky: Hmm, that's a good question...

Caller: Hold on a second Becky, someone is at my door..

Caller: Who's there...?

Caller: Aaaaah!

Caller: Noooooooooooo!

Caller: I'll register my software!
Heeeeeeeeeelp!

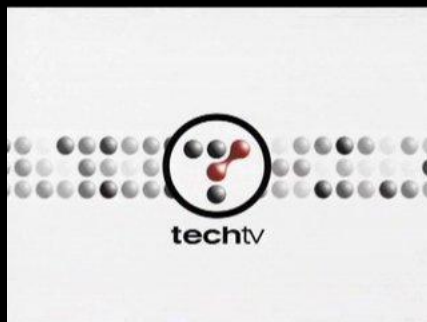

Bill Gates: Feel the power of Microsoft!
Give me your money or you shall pay in blood!

Becky: I guess that answers your question. Remember folks, even when the world is on fire and there's blood flowing in the streets, you must register that software! Back to you Uncle Les!

Les: Thank you Tabitha, err, Becky...
Now, where was I? Oh yes, Mr. and Mrs.
America, it is time for action!
