

one day AT TECHTV ...

Erica: We're back from the break and it's time to go to the NASDAQ with our old pal "Boogie Down" Bill Tucker ...

Erica: Good morning Bill, how is the market doing today?
 Bill: Good morning, foxie lady. The market is doing well this fine morning.

Erica: Bill ... (Oh my god, those eyes. That voice.) ... I understand Microsoft is going ... up.

Bill: Yes, my dear. The markets are moving like a dance floor built in an elevator of love. Next stop, shaking things all the way to the top in the mighty Microsoft penthouse.

Erica: ... (Oh look at his tie. What a man. I'd like to boogie down with him on that elevator.)

Bill: We've got some shakeout in the tech sector. It seems that Cisco has fallen out of step with the market and have missed the beat this morning.

Erica: ... (My toes are tingling! Oh my goodness. Maybe I should tell him what his voice does to me.)

Bill: But Little lady, I know that this is the time that most investors are scared of their true feelings about the market. They're not ready to come out and shake things down, with the doctor of love, Bill Tucker.

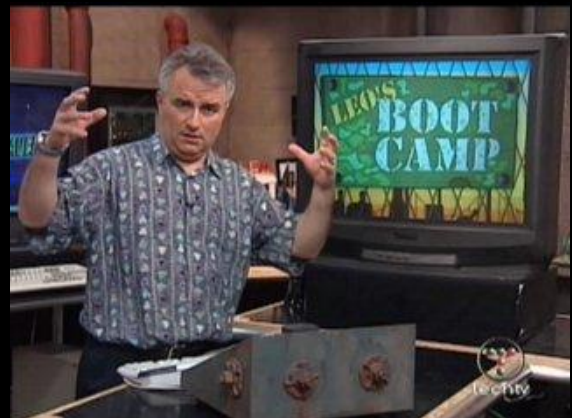

Michaela (whispering): Psst. Erica, snap out of it.

Erica: ... (I'm going to have to say something. Wait I have to fight it. No, no these feelings are too strong. I'm going to say it. I must say something ... NOW!!!!)

Bill: But I say come out. Come out. Take that first step with me. Shed your inhibitions and take a turn with the markets like you would on the dance floor, the dance floor of Love.

Leo: I LOVE YOU BILL! COME TO MY BOOT CAMP! I MUST HAVE YOU IN MY LOVE ARMY! BE MY DANCE WARHEAD OF LOVE!

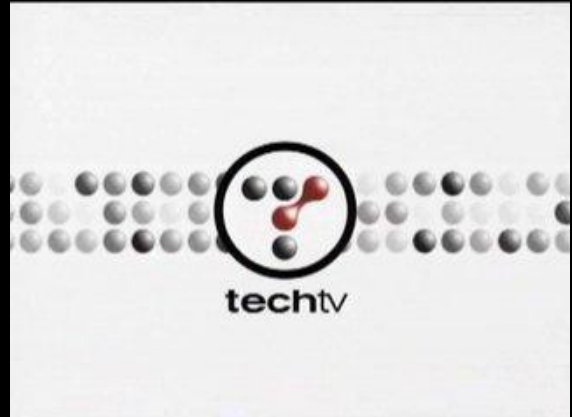

Bill: Back to you, Erica.

Erica: Slut.

Leo: At least I said it!

We'll be right back ...