

CRAZY DAYS AT TECHTV ...

Max: ... and in other news, let's go to the big board to see how-how-how the markets have-have-have reacted to the news of Bill Gates' divorce. Jean-Jean-Jean Lee are you there?

Jean: Err, hello? Erica? Michaela?

Max: No-no-no Jean, it is me, Max-Max-Max Headroom. I am the new anchor of Tech-Tech-TechLive!

Jean: This is a joke, right? Erica? Michaela? Are you kidding me?

Max: Jean-Jean-Jean I can ass-ass-assure you that-that-that this is no joke! I-I-I am now going to be work-work-working for the network full time.

Jean: Riiiiiiight. Okay. In business news, while there's no word on how news of the Gates' divorce has impacted the market, it's Tony Bennett day here at the Nasdaq and we have Mr. Bennett here with us now!

Max: Tony-Tony-Tony Bennett? What does-does he have to do with tech-tech-technology, Jean? I mean isn't he-he-he kind of and old-old-old fogie and out of our market dem-dem-demographic?

Jean: Like you're one to talk. Err, why hello, Mr. Bennett, welcome to TechLive. Tony: Why hello there little lady, call me Tony.

Max: What-what-what did she say?

Jean: Why, thank you ::swoon:: Tony, I know I, for one, am a big fan and am so glad to have you here today. Tony: Why thank you, I must say that you're more beautiful in person than you are on TV.

Max: Hey-hey-hey lady, I-I-I'm not some sort of fa-fa-faded computer icon! I-I-I am a se-serious news anchor! This is a se-serious news show! This sort-sort-sort of fluff seg-seg-segment has no-no-no place on the network!

Jean: Oh, Tony, you're making me blush.
 Tony: You flatter an old man. Why, they're so lucky to have someone like yourself working at the station. I'm a big fan.

Max: On-on-on top of that, this net-net-network is about se-se-serious news! When we go-go-go to you for mar-mar-market coverage we want a pro-pro-professional news person who does-does-doesn't pander to any-any-any third rate celebrity who come-come-comes around!

Jean: Really Tony, oh my! I've loved your albums for years! I never thought ...
 Tony: Why, this may sound a bit forward, but, if you're not doing anything for the rest of the day, would you consider making some time for an old singer who would like nothing better than to have dinner with the most beautiful girl on TV?

Max: This-this-this is so-so-so fake! Third ra-ra-rate celebrities don't just pop-pop-pop up during a broadcast and ask news people out! Some-Some-Someone at the net-net-network scripted this for-for-for a publicity news-news-news byte! Jean-Jean-Jean! Stop playing par-par-part in this hoax and get back to work! We're a se-se-serious news station! You-you-you should be doing your market report and not hanging out with this wash-wash-washed up member of the rat pack!

Tony: That fella seems to have a problem with you leaving to have lunch with me.
 Jean: Never mind him.
 Tony: Are you sure, my dear? He seems to be in charge of this whole shindig.

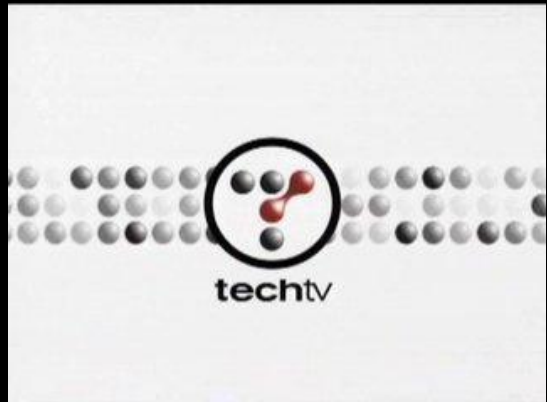

Max: Jean-Jean-Jean? Are you there Jean?
 Jean! Are-Are-Are you going to finish the mar-mar-market news or are-are-are you going to continue to be just another play-player-player in this cheesy prefabricated network

Jean: Oh, he's just another embarrassing phase that the network is going through. Just ignore him and he'll be gone in a week.
Tony: Then we're off?
Jean: I'll get my purse.

news-news-news byte?
Jean: Byte this, Max!
Max: Jean-Jean-Jean, come back here! Jean!

Max: Sheesh, why-why-why doesn't anyone take the news seriously any-any-anymore?

We'll be right back ...
