

hot buttered days AT techtv ...

Paul Allen: A lottery, sir? Are you out of your mind?

Bill Gates: Excuse me, Allen?
Paul Allen: Perhaps I wasn't clear, sir, are you out of your white bread microchip picking mind?

Bill Gates: Allen, it would be wise if you refrain from using that tone of voice with me.
Paul Allen: No way, buster. Not this time.

Bill Gates: I hate to repeat myself, but, excuse me?
Paul Allen: You heard me, sir. Are you crazy?
Bill Gates: Crazy? Me? Why my uncle thought he was St. Jerome but ...

Paul Allen: Then, sir, the apple doesn't fall very far from the tree. What are you thinking? Laura just spent a week taking us from poverty level back to the multi-billion dollar monopoly that we once were and now you want to give our money away?!?!?

Bill Gates: "Our," Allen?
Paul Allen: Sorry sir. This just doesn't make any sense.

Bill Gates: Laura seems to like this idea of the "Billionaire Bill's Bountyball Lotto."
Paul Allen: Objection withdrawn.

Bill Gates: I do love that lady.
Paul Allen: As do I, sir. Has she dispatched any advice re: the TechTV situation, sir?
Bill Gates: TechTV? Why does that sound so familiar?

Paul Allen: Well, sir, your last 2 wives and now Laura ...
Bill Gates: Ah yes, wonderful girl, just wonderful. Are we married yet?
Paul Allen: Not yet, sir, I don't think you can afford her.
Bill Gates: Ratfarts.

Paul Allen: Getting back to the TechTV situation sir. How did she say to handle the fact that the Bush administration has declared war on it?

Paul Allen: Are you going to follow her advice?

Bill Gates: She suggested selling to the lowest bidder and writing off the loss on our tax return under the war damage assessment clause.

Bill Gates: We're back!
Paul Allen: And we're baaaaaad, sir!

Bill Gates: We shall see, Allen, we shall see. Ah, the carriage is here.
Paul Allen: I can't believe she's brought us this far in just a few short days. Do you realize what this means?

We'll be right back ...
