Charlie Brown: Linus, I'm depressed.

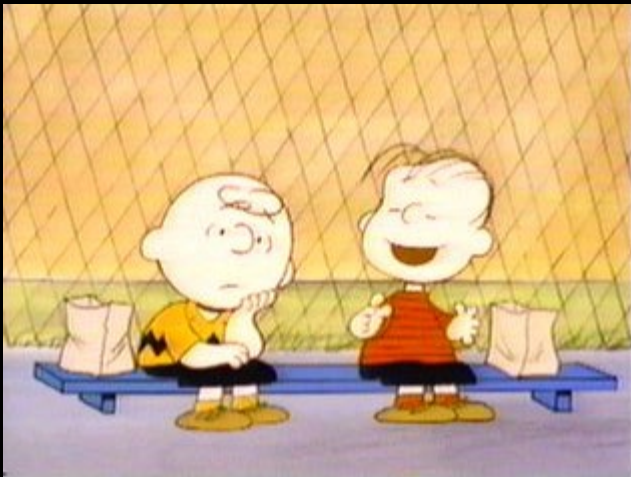

Linus: Here we go again.

Charlie Brown: It's like the world is changing too fast for me to handle.

Linus: I know how you feel, Charlie Brown. Just look at your heroes at that wonderfully wholesome channel, TechTV.

Linus: First, 20/20 picked up a controversial documentary on Leo Laporte featuring his inappropriate behavior with much younger co-workers ...

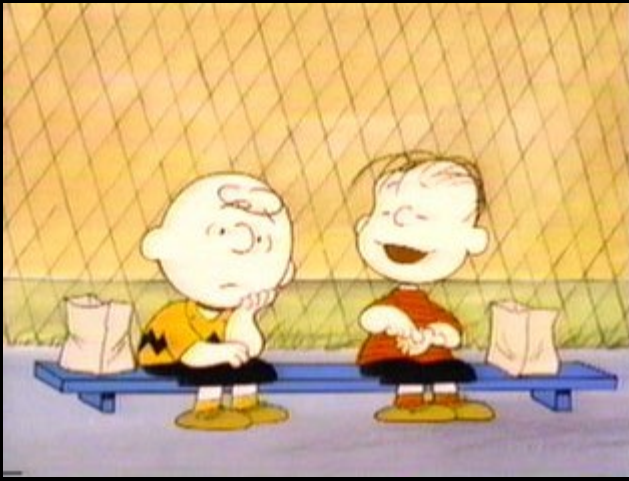

Schroeder: He slept on the floor! Martin got the bed! You people are sick!

Linus: While some people say it's okay for a 50-something year old man to sleep in the same bed with his 20-something year old same sex co-host, but I beg to differ!

Schroeder: You people really need to get a life!

Linus: Then the goddess Morgan Webb is exposed as a 13 year old who used a magic word to get powers beyond mortal men. When confronted with it, what did she do?
Charlie Brown: Use the super-body to clobber everyone?
Linus: Nope, cried like Leo did after Patrick Norton ran over his Lexus.

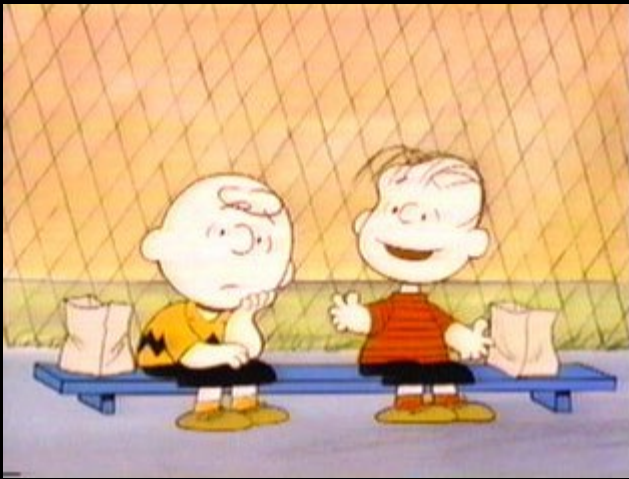

Peppermint Patty: Girl power my aunt fanny.
Marcie: A great step back for the cause, sir.
Peppermint Patty: Stop calling me "sir."

Linus: And then, the girl you had a crush on, Megan Morrone, gets pregnant and joins half the staff in the insanity department. This time channeling two different personalities like her hero "Gollum" in "The Two Towers" ...

Lucy: Make Charlie Brown miss the ball.
SchLucy: No, no we's cants! Nots nice to round headed hobbit!
Lucy: No's cares about nice! Charlies go splat funs funs!
SchLucy: We's agrees! Funs funs!

Linus: It took half the team to figure out that her "precious" was a little gnome statue and the other half to keep her from clobbering Patrick Norton over the head with it when he accidentally

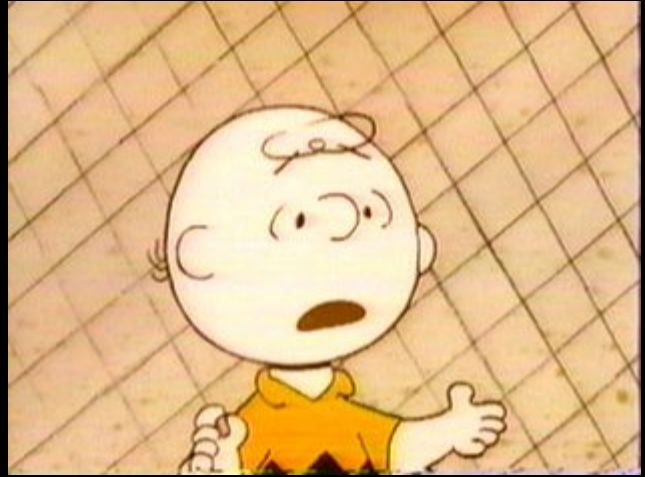

Snoopy: Hmm, I think I'm going to bite that round-headed kid when he gets home. That Megan had the right idea! Biting speaks louder than words! I'm a fierce TechTV personality perched on top of my watchtower, waiting for the right person touched it! That's pretty twisted!

Linus: Then ...
Charlie Brown: Enough!
Linus: Enough?
Charlie Brown: You're making my point for me! I'm depressed about all these horrible changes in the world. People I care about that I just don't know any more! It's too much to keep up with!

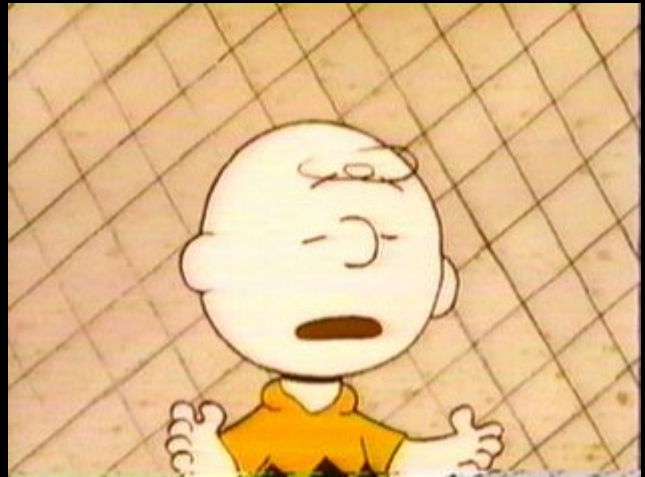

to come along and then I'll pounce!

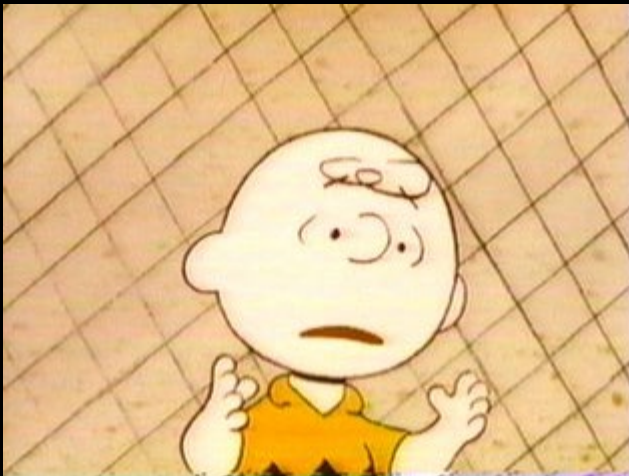

Charlie Brown: Is there anything innocent left in the world? Anything at all?
Linus: There's always Michael Jackson.
Charlie Brown: I know, Dell Steve! Sweet innocent Dell Steve! You can always count on Dell Steve!

Charlie Brown: Good old Dell Steve! Sure he's not that bright and never gets the girl -- but he always rolls with the punches and lands on his feet! Time after time in those commercials, when the chips are down, when everything is at its worst, Dell Steve is there with a smile!

Linus: Uh ...
Charlie Brown: He's what America is all about! A lost innocence for these troubled times! There's no scandal with Dell Steve, no change, no controversy, no siree! Just good old American wholesomeness!

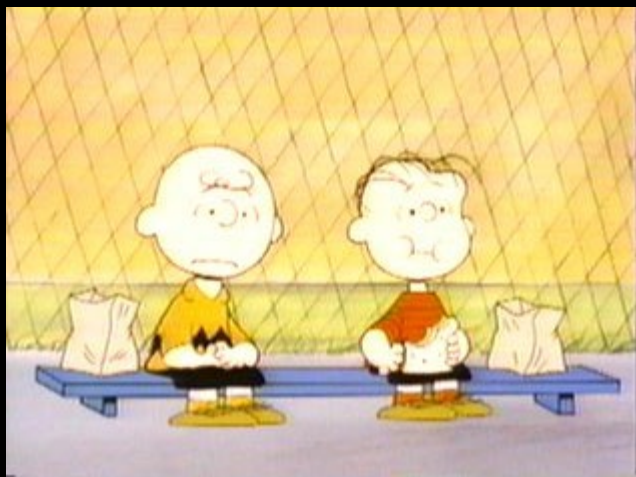

Linus: Uh, Charlie Brown?
Charlie Brown: Dell Steve, I want to be just like him when I grow up! A true hero Linus: Charlie Brown, I'd hate to burst your bubble.

Charlie Brown: Huh?

for the times! Never changing, sweet and innocent, living a life every kid should emulate!

Charlie Brown: Good grief.

Linus: Your sweet and innocent Dell Steve is in jail. He was busted this week for trying to buy pot in New York City.

We'll be right back ...
