

EXTREME DAYS AT TECHTV ...

Martin: So, what do you think?
Woz: Woz has no reply to that question.

Martin: What do you mean, 'Woz has no reply to that question?'
Woz: Woz tries to be nice about Woz's opinions.

Martin: So you hated the show idea?
Woz: Woz never said those words.

Martin: So you loved the show idea?
Woz: Woz never said those words either.

Martin: Woz, you're a tough guy to figure out.
Woz: Woz has heard that before.

Martin: Okay, so I've been a good little boy, are you going to make my dream come true?
Woz: Woz has a question.

Martin: What's that?
Woz: Woz asks, don't you already have a show?

Martin: Canceled due to the scandal.
Woz: Woz asks, what scandal?

Martin: When I asked that same question to the Bush Twins, they gladly complied.
Woz: Oh. That troubles Woz.

Martin: I know, I know, and because George W. Bush currently owns the station it might be difficult to get me back on the air. I mean this is the guy who hired Gary Coleman just to fire me.
Woz: Interesting, says Woz.

Martin: Then again, Bill Gates' ex-wives are challenging Bush's order to cancel the network. This has gone on for weeks and no one can figure out where it's going. It's a mess.
Woz: Woz nods in agreement. Woz feels that Woz can fix it.

Martin: How?
 Woz: Just watch Woz in action ... Hello, George, Woz would like to speak to you.

George W. Bush: Yello? Why am I not hearing anything?
 Paul Allen: Sir, it's a headset.
 George W. Bush: So? I'm listening and no words are coming out.
 Paul Allen: It works by placing it ON your head and over your ear. Not by putting it over the picture of your father.

Martin: How did he become president?
 Woz: Woz owed him a favor. So George, Woz would like to buy 52% of your shares of TechTV for a substantial profit on your part as long as you vote against canceling the station.

George W. Bush: Profit? Well, Pardner, I admit that my family seems to suck when it comes to economics, but it's a deal! I still can publicly flog that Marty Sargent feller anytime I like, can't I?

Woz: Woz says, flog away!
 George W. Bush: Whoo-hoo!
 Martin: Hey!
 Woz: Now now. Woz says that it is a small price to pay for your own show. Johnny Carson put up with daily verbal beratings by Paul Block as part of a deal to get his show.

Martin: The great one!

Woz: Woz agrees. Now Woz says, Jessie-bessie-banana-lessie!

Woz: 52% Jessie-deedie! Wozzie wuzzie baddie boogie binta boo binta bee boogie down hardie slappa! Slippa slida away! Dingo-mans handy rar rar! Snaka?
