

EXTREME DAYS AT TECHTV ...

Michaela: Jessica Corbin's breasts kill internet.

Michaela: Hi, I'm Michaela Pereira. Massive downloads of JPG files featuring TechTV personality

Michaela: ... Jessica Corbin ...

Michaela: ... have crippled the Internet as we know it.

Michaela: Online services such as MSN and AOL are both down, their servers in flames. The root hubs that control the internet are slowed to a trickle all because of one redhead's return to a TV program on this very station.

Michaela: How could this happen? How could one pair of boobs cripple the entire internet? Let's go to our own Yoshi DeHerrera for more.

Yoshi: I didn't mean to start it! It just sort of happened!

Michaela: You "didn't mean to do" what exactly, Mr. DeHerrera?

Yoshi: It was just that Jessica was back and we were all so happy to see her. I kinda got excited and ...

Michaela: You kinda what ...?

Yoshi: I mean they warned us about Microsoft Outlook, but you know that's B.S. We're computer gods! Nothing bad can ever happen to us! We know how to handle it. Don't we?

Michaela: Yoshi. Either you tell Leo what you REALLY were doing to his teddy bear collection.

Yoshi: I ... err ... I ... umm ... I opened a file attachment.

Michaela: When we come back on Techlive, we continue our conversation with the doofus who doomed the Internet. Stay Tuned.

Is it funny yet? E-mail me when it is!