

CUSTARD FILLED DAYS AT TECHTV ...

Michaela: Contrary to denials on this very show, there may be some connection between the Hulk and our very own Patrick Norton.

Michaela: Hi, I'm Michaela Pereira and this is Techlive. A rampaging green figure was seen carving a path of destruction throughout Southwest California today.

Michaela: The figure has been blamed for tens of millions of dollars worth of damage to public property. With more on the story, let's go to our own Becky Worley.

Becky: Man, we're pretty far out in the mountains.

Becky: Are you sure that he came this way? I'm not getting any readings on the monitor. I hope they don't check in soon. We got nothing. Nothing! I say.

Michaela: Hi Becky, it's Michaela Pereira in the Techlive center.

Becky: @#$#. Err, hi Michaela. We're currently pursuing the creature through the Southwestern portion of California. It looks as if he's heading to Mexico.

Michaela: Mexico? Well that's par for course if it is Patrick Norton. Do you have any more to share with us on the exact location of the monster?

Becky: Michaela, Blazing Feathers, my expert guide here, is using his GPS device to coordinate our location and plot the path of the destruction left by the creature.

Phil: Lady, I keep telling ya, my name is Phil.
Becky: Right. Right. So Blazing Feathers, do you think the monster is around here?

Phil: Yah lady, look around you, he's carved a big path leading up around the bend there. Don't need a fancy GPS unit to see that.

Becky: So, Blazing Feathers, do the readings indicate that we're going to find the monster in the next few minutes?

Phil: Lady, I don't need this thing to tell me that we're gonna see something monstrous up ahead.
Becky: Why's that?
Phil: Just look for yourself.

Becky: Oh dear god.

Be Afraid of the Future! It's Scary!