

RELIVING THOSE DAYS AT TECHTV ...

Leo: Friends, we're going to take a minute from my search for an apprentice to address some very pressing issues.

Leo: A few of you out there seem to have a problem with this whole contest. I admit it, I have a problem with it too.

Leo: You say that it just a chance for me to take out my aggressions on the rivals, geeks and nerds who may usurp my power base here at TechTV.

Leo: I agree. I honestly feel the same way. It is wrong. Wrong to take anything out on these poor people. It is wrong of the producers of this show to put this stuff on the air. In fact, as a geek myself, I know that being a geek, a nerd and a snert has never been en vogue.

Leo: I know how hard it is and I care. I also know that there are people who claim to be nerds and go public with their "status", but they're getting regular sex, which negates their status. Nerds don't get the girls. Period. These people get on your nerves, and mine too, mine too ... bastards! Oh, sorry folks.

Leo: I, as a geek and a dweebie at heart, also know the frustration my people feel at the persecution presented by the "beautiful people" behind shows like this.

Leo: I also know that inside every nerd is a beautiful boy or girl who longs, nay, dreams, of being "popular," "cool" or part of the "in crowd."

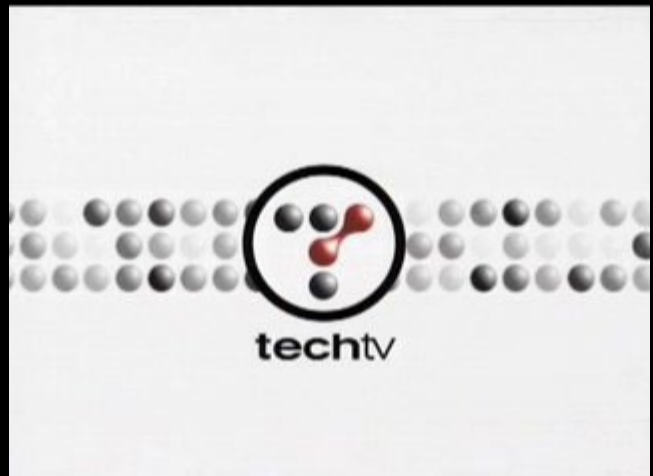

Leo: Well in my America, those dreams can come true. Yes, I've established camps. Camps far outside the malls and social gatherings of the "normal" world. Camps where there's no pressure to fit in since we're all the same. Camps where you can learn to "be popular" and "get the girl of your dreams." Yes, at the Laporte Brand TM Geek Camp you'll learn all of this AND how to fit into normal everyday society! For $500 down and $500 a week after that you too can make it happen!

Leo: Parents, don't you dream of a bright future for your kids? Nerds, don't you want to fit in? Aren't you tired of fighting meaningless online battles and clogging up message boards across the internet? Don't you just want to be "cool?" Well, you can. The geeks, nerds and dweebies are special to me, not just special, they're all my friends. Don't you want to be my friend? Well you can be, just give up your hate, and put yourself in one of my camps today! Visit Leoville.com for more information!

Leo: We now return you to our regularly scheduled nerd-beatings, geek-bashings

and dweebie firings, already in progress
...

Bill Gates: Who dat? Who dere?
Paul Allen: Why is he quoting the Rob
Schneider character from that Adam Sandler movie, 'The Waterboy?'
Medic: Must be the meds, sir, he'll be fine in a moment.
Paul Allen: Mr. Gates? Mr. Gates? Can you hear me?
Bill Gates: Yes, yes, my boy, a sight for sore eyes! Where am I? Why am I not dead?
Why does everyone here look like my math club yearbook photo?

Paul Allen: Sir, we're starting our revolution from a camp.
Bill Gates: A camp? What are you babbling on about, Allen?
Paul Allen: The Leo Laporte Geek Camp
#8675309.
Bill Gates: Jenny? Wait, isn't the enemy's home base the first place he'd look for us?
Paul Allen: No sir.
Bill Gates: What?

Paul Allen: It's a camp for geeks, sir,
he'd never be caught dead here!

Even MORE Fun in the Past!