

RELIVING THOSE DAYS AT TECHTV ...

Paul Allen: It's a camp for geeks, sir, he'd never be caught dead here!

Bill Gates: A camp for geeks? Dear fellow, why would anyone bring me to a camp for geeks?

Paul Allen: Right. Err. Sir. There's something you should know.

Bill Gates: Paul Allen, Paul Allen, stop that immediately!
Paul Allen: What?
Bill Gates: Any time you start with "Sir, there's something you should know," something horrible happens!

Paul Allen: Sorry sir.
Bill Gates: Let's proceed before your words doom us once again.
Paul Allen: My apologies again, sir.
Bill Gates: Now, how did I survive?
Paul Allen: A drinking contest.

Bill Gates: A what?
 Paul Allen: On the morning of your execution in Texas, we challenged the authorities to a simple drinking game in your honor.
 Bill Gates: All Republicans, I gather?
 Paul Allen: Prime Bush supporters.

Bill Gates: Excellent, so they had no other choice.
 Paul Allen: What they didn't know was that we, like all nerds, know the chemical compounds to negate the effect of alcohol. So while the jocks, err, security officers got drunk, we took pills to stay sober and ...

Bill Gates: ... a sober back-up party of snerts and geeks snuck me out of my holding cell?
 Paul Allen: Along with the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders.
 Bill Gates: Cheerleaders? What would nerds want with cheerleaders.
 Paul Allen: I wouldn't know sir, but they're locked in the basement.

Bill Gates: Good, good, work up the nerve to talk to them then crush them with our overpowering computer machismo!
 Paul Allen: Whatever you say, sir.
 Bill Gates: So, Allen, what has my Nemesis, Leo Laporte, been up to.
 Paul Allen: He's holding a contest, sir.
 Bill Gates: A contest?
 Paul Allen: Let's just listen in ...

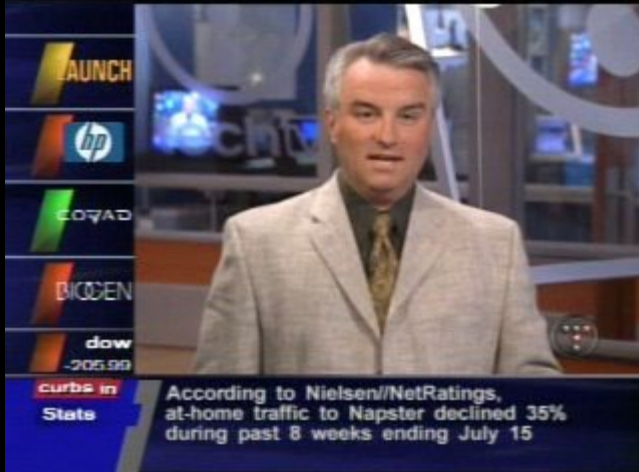

Leo: You! Blanche Shaheen! I like that

Leo: You are a vixen. A girl-next-door. A PBS heartbreaker. People think that you name!

 Blanche: Umm, thanks, I guess.
 Leo: You are a temptress, aren't you?
 Blanche: Leo, this is really inappropriate.
 Leo: Par for course.
 Blanche: What?

Blanche: But I'd never!
 Leo: And that's your problem! You'd never say "yes" to my advances in junior high! You said I was "like, grody to the max! For sure!"
 Blanche: But you're 30 years older than I am! I didn't go to your school --
 Leo: For my self respect and the self respect of every boy whose had his heart broke by you, I say: "YOU'RE FIRED!"

The Gopher: What was that? A plot against Leo? I must tell him!

are mousy. They ignore you. They don't know that behind that understated beauty and under those baggy clothes lies a taunt, firm ...
 Blanche: Hrm? What?
 Leo: ... heartless soul that would crush the boy-next-door that had a crush on you in Junior High!

Bill Gates: He's quite mad, isn't he?
 Paul Allen: You'd know, sir.
 Bill Gates: That I would. With my knowledge of the dark arts, I would also know ...
 Paul Allen: What?
 Bill Gates: How to take him down! Prepare our forces, Allen, for today we go to war! This is going to be excellnt, most excellent indeed.

Did We Forget? Apprentice Finale Next!