

RETURNING TO THE AGE OF LEO ...

Sarah: Hi, I'm Sarah Lane.

Sarah: I'm here to remind you that this is a parody. None of the information presented here is a fact.

Sarah: In fact, so much of this stuff is made up and untrue that you shouldn't put any faith in ANYTHING you read in comic strips on this site.

Sarah: Now, let's back up a little. I'm not in this season because I wasn't on set during the era it is set in.

Sarah: For some stupid reason this season is set in the past, but not our past, an alternate past where Leo has taken over the world.

Sarah: You may ask, "Hasn't this been done before?" Well, yes, yes it has. They put a big "2" in the graphic for a reason. They have no new ideas so they're revisiting the past.

Sarah: You DO know that trained monkeys with herpes write this stuff, don't you? It's true, it explains SO much.

Sarah: Anyway, where was I? Oh yah, this season is set in that alternate world. It's a world where I'm not yet hosting 'the Screen Savers.'

Sarah: I don't know where I am in that universe, but you can bet that I'm making out on webcam with my bohunk of a boyfriend, Kevin Rose. That's got to be a gimmie. I mean, it's only natural.

Sarah: Love is a universal constant after all. Kevin and my love, well, you'll see how beautiful it can be when G4TechTV presents 'the Screen Savers' with both of us as hosts this fall.

Sarah: No, not in some weird alternate reality, I'm talking about THIS reality! The one that you and me live in. We're going to have continuing adventures that will probably be parodied right here!

Sarah: What do you mean, "I'm dreaming?" It really is true! We're cohosts! We're equals! I know as much, if not more about technology than he does! Right honey?

Kevin: He-ya right. Oh no. Umm, we're equals! You're better! What the heck do you want me to say to make it right? Please don't hurt me again!

Sarah: Yes folks, that's true love on 'the Sarah Lane Show, featuring the Screen Savers,' this fall on G4TechTV!
Kevin: Mommy!

Warning Done, Back to the Fun!